FEATURED DISHES

Cooking From The Heart

These are the heart of Indian cuisine. You can find various types, such as chicken curry, lamb curry, and vegetable curry, cooked with a variety of spices and served with rice or bread.

Biryani: A fragrant rice dish cooked with aromatic spices and typically featuring chicken, lamb, or vegetables. It's often garnished with fried onions and served with raita (yogurt dip).

Naan and Roti: These are different types of Indian bread. Naan is soft and typically brushed with ghee (clarified butter), while roti is thinner and unleavened.

COOKING FROM THE HEART

It involves being present in the moment while you cook. Instead of rushing through the process, take your time to savor each step, from chopping vegetables to tasting and adjusting seasonings.

It's about being flexible and adapting to the needs and preferences of those you're cooking for. Cooking from the heart often means tailoring a dish to suit the tastes of your loved ones.

True cooking from the heart is a lifelong journey. It's about constantly learning, evolving, and improving your culinary skills. It's a way of expressing your growth and development through food.
